PREFACE

We look forward to the new academic year and to welcome the new entrants to this prestigious and oldest University of the country. Entering in to university level educations marks a new phase in your life, which is not only associated with more independence but also demands more responsibility in the selection of your priorities and actions. Our University has produced numerous graduates in the past who have not only served in highly important positions in the national and international institutions, but have earned fame because of the contributions they made.

We all look forward to our youth to not only upkeep the university traditions but to work with dedication for improvement and excellence, which is the hallmark of an alive and vibrant society.

The University has progressed over the years, more particularly during the last decade when many new degree programs were initiated, which was associated with expansion in the physical infrastructure on the campus. The University academic programs are divided under thirteen faculties, which embody several colleges, schools, institutes, departments and centers. These institutions offer degree programs in a large number of disciplines ranging from the oriental studies to the areas like biotechnology and nanotechnology. First-rate facilities including laboratories equipped with state-of-the-art equipment, ready access to internet facility for all, computer laboratories, etc., are available not only for producing well-qualified graduates, but also undertaking high quality research.

The choice of discipline for further studies must be made not only according to the market demands but also personal interests and aptitude should play an important role in this process. It may not be possible for many students to get admission to a degree program of their first choice as only a limited number of seats are available for each program and the admissions are decided strictly on merit. However, it must be remembered that with dedication, hard work and perseverance, it is possible to achieve excellence and earn honors and laurels in any field of study you enter into.

Admissions to all the degree programs are made in accordance with the University Admission Regulations, which are publicly announced prior to the admission process. These regulations along with the admission forms, and other information like the details of the courses, etc., are available from the relevant University departments and university book store at a nominal price. Students are advised to consult these regulations carefully and obtain other necessary information while filing application for admission. All the University departments shall provide help to facilitate the candidates in their admission process.
