Q. 6 Read the following passage carefully and answer the questions appended to it:

Learning of English language has been disputed among different groups but now the problem has been resolved. Now, the question is how we can expedite the process of learning English language. The theories of modern linguistics should be applied to facilitate the process of learning. Special emphasis is to be laid upon developing reading, writing and speaking skills in students. For reading we should minimize the number of books. For writing basics of grammar should be frequently repeated to strengthen the basis of students. For speaking, the books of spoken English and audio-visual aids should be introduced. English is no more a legacy of colonial era; it is an international language and has come to be a common property of the world. It is, therefore, learned that we should make use of English language and benefit from its fruits at national as well as at international platforms which is, possible, only by a complete reorientation of its learning process.

Questions:

- (i) What is main concern regarding learning of English language? (2)
- (ii) Why does the writer feel need of complete re-orientation of our teaching philosophy? (2)
- (iii) What is required for improving writing skill? (2)
- (iv) Summarize the passage in about  $\frac{1}{3}$  of its length and give it a suitable title. (6)
