Q. 6 Read the following passage and answer the questions appended to it:

Ought women to have the same rights as men? A hundred years ago, the answer in every country in the world would have been "No". If you had asked, "Why not?" You would have been told, scornfully and pityingly, that women were weaker and less clever than men and have worse characters. Even now, in the twentieth century, there are many countries where women are still treated almost like servants, or even slaves.

It is certainly true that the average woman has weaker muscles than the average man. Thousands of years ago, when men lived in caves and hunted animals for food, strength of body was most important thing, but now in the twentieth century, brains are more important. Strength of body is still needed for a few kinds of work, but the fact that such kinds of work are not well paid shows that the twentieth century does not think that muscles are of very great importance.

Questions:

- (i)

Why had not the women same rights as men a century ago?

02
- (ii)

Why was strength of body important thousands of years ago?

02
- (iii)

Write a précis of the given passage in about one third of its length and also suggest a suitable title to it
