Hazrat Sheikh Abdul Qadir Jillani (رحمته الله عليه) was a great scholar. He is famous by the title “The Saint of Saints”. In his childhood, the mother of Hazrat Abdul Qadir Jillani (رحمته الله عليه) sent him to Baghdad with a caravan to study. In old times, people travelled in caravan for the fear of getting robbed. Hazrat Abdul Qadir Jillani (رحمته الله عليه) was on his way when the robbers attacked the caravan. One robber came to Hazrat Abdul Qadir Jillani (رحمته الله عليه) and asked him, “What do you have?” He replied, “I have forty gold coins sewn in my shirt.” The robber took him to the chief robber. The chief robber asked him the same questions and the truthful boy replied with the same answers. The chief said, “Boy, why did not you lie of not having money?” Hazrat Abdul Qadir Jillani (رحمته الله عليه) told him that it was his mother’s advice to always speak the truth. This had a deep effect on the chief and he decided to be a good man. He returned all the money of the caravan and disbanded his gang.
